DEATH OF MISS JENNIE D. BURBANK.

"Thou hast all seasons for thine own, Oh! Death."

Regarded from a merely human and worldly standpoint, there is something more than inexpressible sadness in the death of a pure, bright and beautiful young girl. It seems to be so unnecessary and cruel a thing that the young life filled with hope and happiness should be cut short and the idol of the home circle should be snatched away. And so it would be if the world still lay in darkness and the Kindly Light had not beamed upon it. What man will say that his dead are forever gone from him? And if he will not, what is his hope? 'Truly my hope is even in Thee."

Yesterday morning the wide circle of relatives and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Burbank received the dreaded information that their daughter, Miss Jennie D. Burbank, had passed away after a brief, and extremely painful illness, in the 17th year of her age. It was, although not entirely unexpected, a dreadful shock to all who knew this lovely young lady, who was the idol of her family and a great favorite among the young people of the city. She was beautiful and talented, and useful, and the future seemed full of bright promise for her. Is it not still more full of all peace, and joy, and rest in the realm to which she has been transferred? May this thought bring balm to the crushed spirits who sit in the shadow of this great affliction, and to whom the world to-day seems a hopeless desert. To them go out the hearts of all their friends in deepest sympathy, and for them will ascend their earnest prayers.

A FRIEND.

STATE CONVENTION.

The Y. M. C. A. Workers Closed Their Regular Busines Session Last Night.

A TRIP TO THE SEASHORE.

An Assistant Secretary to the State Officer—Executive Committee's Report Adopted—Invitations for the Next Convention.

The Y. M. C. A. Convention closed its last day's regular session last night and there is remaining only the religious services to be conducted at the several places already announced in the STAR.

The morning session yesterday was opened with devotional exercises led by Rev. J. A. Dorrites, followed by a Bible reading conducted by Mr. J. B Milligan.

Mr. O. B. VanHorn, as chairman of the committee appointed to make a report on the work of the Executive committee, suggested that the report of that committee be adopted in full. The most important suggestion in the report was that the N. C. Convention concur with the S. C. Convention in appointing an assistant to the State Secretary and to give him entire supervision of the college work. It was also suggested that the State Executive Committee be re-elected and that other members be appointed. The names suggested were M. B. Spier, Charlotte; W. H. Burton, Spencer; A. M. Craig, Charlotte; W. F. Snider, Salisbury. The other members of the committee are: Geo. B. Hanna, Charlotte (chairman); H. L. Smith, Davidson College; J. H. Southgate, Durham; Jno. T. Pullen, Raleigh; G. A. Norwood, Jr., Goldsboro. The convention adopted the report in full and the Association secretary will be appointed later by the Executive Committee.

At 11 o'clock A. M., Mr. A. C. Bridgeman, of Columbia, spoke most interestingly on the topic, "The Association as a Spiritual Force Among Men in Towns and Villages." Dr. N. M. Wetzel, physical director of the local Association, read a paper on "The Association as a Physical Force." The subject was well handled and he treated it under the following heads: (a) What are we doing to meet the physical needs of young men? (b) Wherein do we differ from athletic clubs? (c) What should be the relation of the Christian worker to athletics? Dr. Wetzel was highly complimented upon the excellence of his paper.

During the morning session subscription cards were distributed and $617.75 was subscribed by individuals and associations for the furtherance of the work during the coming year.

Invitations for entertaining the convention next year were extended by Charlotte, Spencer and Gastonia. The Executive Committee will decide later upon a place.

Sight Seeing and Recreation.

The afternoon was set aside for the pleasure of the delegates and they seemed to enjoy the many attentions shown them. At 1 o'clock the Woman's Auxiliary served the delegates with a delicious lunch on the third floor of the building. At 2:30 o'clock they were given a complimentary trip over the Seacoast railroad to Wrightsville Beach.

Basket Ball Game.

The Boys' Brigade and Naval Reserve teams played an exhibition game of basket ball at the City Hall at 5:45 o'clock P. M. The hall was crowded with spectators and the game was much enjoyed. The Naval Reserves were victorious by a score of 26 to 20. The teams were lined up as follows:

Naval Reserves—Morris, Matthews, LeGwin, Hergenrother and Lane.

Boys' Brigade—Dosher (A.), Irving, Gore, Dosher (W.) and Foard.

Closing Session Last Night.

The closing session last evening was presided over by Prof. S. M. Smith, of Elon College. After a song service led by Rev. J. A. Dorritee, Dr. W. C. Galloway offered a fervent prayer. C. L. Gates, of Atlanta, field secretary of the International Committee, was then introduced. He spoke with force and intelligence on the subject, "The Association as a spiritual, intellectual and social force in a community." He showed that the influence of the Association is much greater than its membership. He treated the topic under the following heads: (a) In social circles; (b) In industrial circles; (c) In educational circles; (d) In railroad circles. He said it stands for spiritual development and always for the conversion of men. The address was instructive and one that was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Dorritee rendered a solo, "Under His Wings," after which the convention was addressed by Mr. L. A. Coulter, State Secretary of Virginia. His subject was "Young Men of Other Nations and our Relationship to Them." He showed the relationship, (1) by blood, (2) by commercial interests, (3) by political interests, and (4) by the command of the Lord. He made a profound impression. The convention was closed with a prayer by Mr. Douglas.

Special Services To-day.

A consecration service will be held in the Association parlors at 9:45 o'clock this morning. It will be for men only. A men's meeting will be held in the Opera House at 4 o'clock P. M., and a boy's rally in the Association auditorium at 5 o'clock. A woman's meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian Church at the last named hour.

The special services in the various churches will be held as announced in yesterday's STAR with the following exceptions: At Fifth street M. E. church at 7:45 P. M., by Prof. E. M. Smith of Elon College. Epworth League, Grace M. E. Church, at 7 P. M. by Messrs. Bivins and Hagle, of Trinity College.

At 9 o'clock P. M., all the delegates will assemble at the First Baptist church for a farewell service.

DEATH OF MISS BURBANK.

Sad Demise of a Young Lady of Wilmington Yesterday Which Brought Sadness to Many Hearts.

Seldom in a newspaper experience has one the painful duty to chronicle a sadder death or one that carries with its announcement more genuine sorrow than that of Miss Jennie Dickinson Burbank, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thos. S. Burbank, which occurred yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the family residence, No. 217 South Third street, this city. While it has been known for several days past that her condition was very serious and that her passing away was, at times, momentarily expected, the news of her death was received with the deepest regret by not only all those who enjoyed a personal acquaintance with her but also by the large circle of friends of the parents and family and by those who had heard of Miss Burbank's many personal charms, her kind and affable disposition and her sweet Christian character.

Deceased was in her seventeenth year and was just passing into noble young womanhood when she was stricken with meningitis. The best of medical skill was employed to free her constitution from the terrible disease which had fastened itself upon her constitution and the most proficient surgical aid was called in to bring relief but without avail. She gradually grew worse and since last Thursday her life had been despaired of. Many callers at the Burbank home yesterday and last evening attest the very wide popularity of the young lady, whose death caused so much public concern and sadness yesterday.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from St. James' and the interment will be in Oakdale.

OBSEQUIES OF MRS. NUTT

Held Yesterday Afternoon from Family Residence—Interment at Oakdale.

The last sad rites over the remains of the lamented Mrs. Sarah L. Nutt, whose death occurred at an early hour Friday morning, were conducted at half past four o'clock yesterday afternoon from the late residence, 414 North Front street, Rev. James Carmichael, D. D., officiating. Many friends of the deceased gathered to pay a last tribute of love and respect to her memory and the service was very impressive.

The remains were tenderly laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery and the beautiful floral offerings which were placed upon the grave attested the high esteem in which she was held.

The pall bearers consisted of the following gentlemen: Honorary, Capt. Jno. F. Divine and Mr. W. A. Riach; active, Messrs. James F. Post, H. G. Smallbones, T. E. Sprunt, S. P. Collier, N. N. Davis and Owen H. Page.

Fell From His Wagon.

A white man named Jones, employed as a driver on one of the trucks used in draying to and from the Wilmington Cotton Mills, fell from his vehicle yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock on Front between Orange and Ann streets, and was quite painfully, though not seriously wounded. The horses attached to the truck shied from a passing street car and the man fell "overboard," so to speak, one of the wheels of the truck having passed over one of his legs. He was carried to his home in the city ambulance.

Violated Postal Laws.

Postoffice Inspector Jere Connolly, than whom there is no "finer" in the service, came in yesterday from Maxton, N. C., where he caused the arrest of Neil Baxley, white, charged with sending a defamatory postal card through the mails to a creditor, whom it appears was somewhat dilatory in settling his accounts. Baxley was given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner B. F. McLean, of Maxton, and gave bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the Federal Court in Wilmington.

W. L. I. Entertainment.

Capt. Adrian and members of the Wilmington Light Infantry are making preliminary arrangements for an entertainment for the benefit of the company in the near future. The aid of the ladies is solicited and the event will be on an extended scale. Plans will assume more tangible shape, perhaps this week.

Golfers Spent a Pleasant Afternoon.

The mixed foursome tournament held at the Cape Fear Golf Club links yesterday afternoon was a success, and there were a number of entries. Lunch was served in the club house, and the afternoon was very pleasantly spent by the members present.

We are the last but not the least, for the assortment is greater, the styles newer and the prices are lower at Taylor's Bazaar. †

WILMINGTON'S TEAM

Manager Peschau Has a Fine Lot of Players for the Base Ball League.

THEIR NAMES AND RECORDS.

The Aggregation Will Report for Practice About April 1st—Few Names Missing—But 'Tis Only a Question of Best Man for Places

"Whom have you signed and when do you expect your team to report?" are two of the thousand and one questions which have unrelentingly and persistently been fired at Manager H. B. Peschau, of the Wilmington Base Ball Team, for the past two or three weeks.

Pursuing a policy laid down by the Association at the beginning of the season, Manager Peschau has kept very quiet, made few loud-sounding claims through the newspapers and "sawed wood" to use the common parlance of the day. From the fact that good men are exceedingly hard to find and still harder to sign at reasonable figures and because of the fact that numerous applications were to be considered, the record of each man carefully searched, etc., the matter of the signing of a team has been apparently slow but, in fact, very fast considering the question from a "winning" standpoint.

Manager Peschau is now confident that he has booked as likely a set of young fellows as ever tossed a ball or "swung a stick" in the Old North State and an aggregation of ball players that will make the heart of the Wilmington rooters glad and overflowing with base ball joy this Summer. The team will report about April 1st and will get right down to practice for the first game at Richmond 15 days later.

Manager Peschau has been exceedingly fortunate in securing "Tacks" Allen, a cool headed hard working pitcher, who was with Wilmington last season. He has "speed to burn" and "two or three snake balls" that promise to keep the Virginia brethren guessing.

Another pitcher is John Foreman, of National League fame and formerly with Pittsburg and Baltimore. He proved a wizard in the big league, came high this time, but Wilmington couldn't play ball without him and he may be expected to prove a drawing card.

Two other pitchers of wide reputation are in reach of the management and will likely be signed later.

For catchers Wilmington has Radcliffe and Thackera. No man in the State League last year made a more enviable reputation that Radcliffe. He is a hard-worker, throws accurately never suffers with "glass arm" and may be depended upon for hits when hits are needed and when nothing but hits will do. Wilmington has done well—very well—to land him. Thackera comes well recommended—catches and throws with ease and hits 'em freely at times.

No first base man has been signed yet, but three A1 men are being communicated with and the best of the three will get the position.

Dave Crockett, the ideal of the small boy, a favorite with the rooters, and the fastest second baseman known to latter-day baseball has been signed. He is fleet on foot, covers every inch of ground, gets into every play and puts a ball too swift to handle through the infield or over into the brushes, as he desires. Everybody knows Crockett and knows him to be a "peach."

Bag No. 3 will be held down by W. E. Warren, who led in fielding and batting with the Anderson team in the South Carolina State League. He is fast on bases, throws like a shot, and in common with Crockett has a happy faculty of playing aerial tricks with balls and things that puts the grand stand into the star-gazing business.

Hollywood, who played last season at the left field for Millionaire Fleischman's independent team in the Catskill mountains, will be at that position for Wilmington this year. He is a kleptomaniac on the bases when the pitcher's looking the other way and has many other sneaking tricks that the opposing team don't fancy. Hollywood is all right

McGinnis has been signed for centerfield. He comes on Crockett's "say-so" and, of course, he's a good man.

Edward K. DeLaney, of New York and late of the Connecticut State League has been signed for short stop. DeLaney's record has been carefully searched and he is found to be a man of no mean ability, a good bunter, fast on bases and possessing many other qualities that will make him a favorite.

Hearty co operation and a liberal patronage is now all that the management asks of the public. The team is a strong one and there is no reason the 1901 pennant should not come in this direction. The "croakers" are ask to "croak" no more but to get in the "band wagon" and and go forward.

There is a movement on foot, with reasonable hope of success, to have a Northern team come here for practice with Wilmington's team. One of the big League teams will be offered big inducements to come for their practice and it is believed that it will come.

Laborers are already at work on the grounds and great improvements are already under way. The enclosure at Hilton will be enlarged seventy-five feet by moving the eastern fence back. A driveway for carriages will also be provided and in deep centre field an enclosure for colored patrons will be built. The grand stand will be extended back of the catcher's box providing seats for about 250 more people. In short, the diamond will be made second to none in the Southern States.

A meeting of the Association was held last night at which these and other matters were discussed.

A REVOLTING CIRCUMSTANCE.

Negro's Dead Body Said to Have Remained Uninterred for More Than a Week in the Sound.

Shocking news comes from Federal Point township and is to the effect that the dead body of the unknown negro which was found a week ago yesterday in the sound five miles below Capps' store and over which an inquest wes held by the coroner, is still unburied and is lying near the spot where it was found and is covered by some brush in a badly decomposed condition.

This deplorable state of affairs appears to be the result of an evident misunderstanding on the part of some of the county authorities and has been or likely will be attended to to day.

It will be remembered that the negro's body was found last Saturday and even at that time it gave evidence of having been dead for several days. The popular theory then, and is now, in the absence of identification, that the negro fell overboard from some vessel at sea and the body washed ashore.

Coroner Stokes, with whom a reporter talked yesterday afternoon, said that he had performed all the duties of his office in the matter and was at a loss to know why the body had not been buried. He did not file his death certificate until Tuesday awaiting a possible identification from some person away from the county, but as to why the body had not been buried since that time, he was at a loss to know.

The circumstance is revolting indeed, and the Board of County Commissioners, should see to it that the possible loop of misunderstanding is taken up and if there be one existing it should be remedied to guard against similar occurrences in the future.

THE FAYETTEVILLE STEAMBOAT CO.

Wilmington Parties Are Thought Interested in This or Similar Scheme.

The incorporation of the Fayetteville and Wilmington Steamboat Company by the Secretary of State yesterday is believed to concern very deeply a number of prominent Wilmington business men, whom, it has been tacitly understood, have been working at such a scheme through the agency of the Wilmington Tariff Association for some time.

Whether interested in the corporation hailing from Fayetteville, or not, it is a fact nevertheless that the question of the operation of another line of steamers from Wilmington to New York has been seriously considered by Wilmington business men, and the plan as outlined by them appears to be perfectly feasible.

Reference as to the line from Wilmington to New York, in connection with the Fayetteville corporation, is made in the STAR'S special telegram from Raleigh this morning.

Schubert Hall Recital.

At Schubert Hall yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the following programme was delightfully rendered: "Youth's Happiness," (Hennes) by Miss Lillian Stemmerman, a pupil of Mrs. James C. McMillan. "The Naughty Pixie," (Brown,) by Miss James Chasten, a pupil of Mr. James C. Craft. "Minuet," (Mozart) by Mr. Harry Solomon, a pupil of Miss Marcella Shrier. "Neckereien," (Von-Wilm.) by Miss Ellen Greene, a pupil of Mr. James C. Craft.

Live Stock and Poultry.

A movement is on foot in Wilmington for the organization of a Live Stock and Poultry Association. A meeting to this end will be held Tuesday night and an organization effected if possible. There are a number of influential men back of the project and a success is assured with the manifestation of the proper spirit by those who should be interested in such a movement.

Sunday Trips to Southport.

The steamer Wilmington will go on the railway at Skinner's ship yard to-morrow for a thorough overhauling preparatory to handling the travel this season. The Wilmington will not make a trip to Southport to-day, as has been announced, but will begin her Sunday trips to Southport and out to sea to day two weeks and she will continue them throughout the season.

City Subscribers.

City subscribers are earnestly requested to report promptly at the STAR office every failure of the carriers to deliver their papers. In all such cases steps will be taken to insure prompt and regular delivery.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 24.

THE NEGRO VOTE.

Some of the Republican organs North and South, especially in the North, seem to be very much exercised over what they call the "disfranchisement of the negro" in the South, and the progress that disfranchisement is making. Assuming, although they do not say so, that the U. S. Supreme Court will sustain the constitutionality of these State laws, as it has done in the case of Mississippi, they propose to get even by the enforcement of the 14th amendment, which would deprive the Southern States having qualified suffrage laws of representation in Congress and in the electoral college in proportion to the number of voters disfranchised. But this may lead to some interesting questions before they get through with it, if they undertake it.

The Philadelphia Press is one of the recognized organs of the Republican party, and one that gives the cue to other organs because it is supposed to voice the sentiments of the Republican party managers. Its editor-in chief being a member of the Mr. McKinley's administration, its editorial utterances have more than ordinary significance. This makes the following editorial, which we clip from the Press of Thursday interesting and noteworthy:

"The time has come to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment," remarked the Chicago Tribune in a leading article last Tuesday. The remark was made in commenting on a long dispatch from Washington to the Tribune rehearsing the steps already taken, or about to be taken, in Southern States for the disfranchisement of the colored voters. But this is only one of the utterances of Republican and Democratic newspapers on this subject, and which show that the demand for the enforcement of the Fourteenth Amendment is supported by a large majority of the people of the country.

The movement for the disfranchisement of the colored voters is assuming such proportions that it is not probable Congress and the nation can longer ignore it. It is proceeding faster than many are aware. Four States have already adopted new Constitutions or amendments to existing Constitutions which take the ballot away from the colored voters. The Maryland Legislature, now in extra session, will undoubtedly pass a law which will disfranchise the colored voters in that State, and there appears to be every probability that the Arkansas Legislature will at the present session vote to submit to the people an amendment to the Constitution similar to the suffrage amendment adopted in North Carolina last year. The Virginia constitutional convention, to meet June 12th, will disfranchise the colored voters of that State and a similar work will be done by the Alabama constitutional convention also to meet this year.

"This will make eight of the original sixteen Southern States which will have very soon disfranchised their colored voters. But the movement will not stop there. Tennessee is discussing the same question, and disfranchisement propositions have been made in the Georgia and Texas Legislatures, the only thing preventing their passage being the belief of the Democrats in those two States that the colored man is already disfranchised. The remaining Southern States will doubtless move in the same direction until every one of them has taken the ballot away from the colored man, with the possible exception of Delaware and West Virginia. And if the Democrats obtain control of the Legislatures and Governors in those two States similar action will be taken there also. The South will then present a solid front with the colored man disfranchised in every State.

"It must be remembered that this disfranchisement is not done in the interest of an educated vote. It is done in the interest of the Democratic party and against the colored man. Every State which has disfranchised the colored man has added a proviso admitting every white man, no matter how ignorant he may be, to the ballot box. And a few days ago the Democratic Richmond Dispatch remarked in its leading editorial article that it did not suppose that any one denied that the Maryland disfranchisement proposition is in the interest of the Democratic party. As for the fear of negro domination it no longer exists even in the imagination of the white men who raised it and used it to accomplish their purposes. They believe they have gained power enough and that the moral sense has become dulled enough for them to discard that cry and put disfranchisement on the true ground, namely, the benefit it will bring to the Democratic party.

"The census will probably place the colored population of the Southern States at nearly, if not fully, 10,000,000. As the ratio of population to a member of the House of Representatives, adopted by Congress last Winter, is 194,175, the 10,000,000 colored people in the South will give that section fifty one Representatives in the House and the same number of votes in the electoral college. The Republicans have carried the country by large majorities in the three latest Congressional elections, but in no one of these elections have they obtained a majority of fifty in the House of Representatives. An idea can be gained of the immense power placed in the hands of the South Democrats by disfranchising the colored voter and at the same time retaining representation for him in Congress and in the electorial college by supposing that there were 10,000,000 Indians in the Northern States who were not allowed to vote but from whom the Republicans demanded representation.

"When the question is viewed in this light the attitude of the Chicago Tribune will be seen to be just, and a majority of the fair minded people will agree with that newspaper when it says that "the time has come to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment," and reduce the representation of the Southern States in proportion as they have disfranchised their voters."

From a Republican organ's standpoint this is a statement of fact. From a disinterested, truthful standpoint it is a statement based on assumption, error and misrepresentation. It assumes that these laws disfranchise the negro, whereas they do no such thing. There is the assumption based on error while the assertion that the object of these laws is to disfranchise the negro is gross misrepresentation. In not one of the States referred to or in which there is a movement for qualified suffrage has the negro been disfranchised because he is a negro nor will he be in States where qualified suffrage is under discussion, because he is a negro. In not one of them is the disqualification unconditional or perpetual, and not one of them in which he disfranchised by educational and tax-paying requirements can not become enfranchised again by compliance with these requirements. Any grown person with sense enough to cast a ballot with anything bordering upon intelligence can learn to read and write in a short while if he care enough for the ballot to apply himself to that end. To assert that a law which prescribes a possible qualification that any person of ordinary intelligence can comply with in a short time disfranchises the negro is a totally groundless assertion.

There is not one of these States where these laws do not apply to the white man as well as the negro, with the exception of Louisiana and North Carolina where, special provision is made for white voters unable to read or write who were entitled to cast a vote in 1867, or whose fathers were, and there is not a single one of them in which the negro who may be disfranchised can not qualify himself and become a voter by the time the next congressional elections come around. It is true that these laws do disfranchise a good many negroes, but that is only temporarily if they desire to fit themselves to vote, but these laws also disqualify and disfranchise a good many white men.

In the State of Mississippi the poll taxpaying requirement disfranchises this year about 30,000 white men, who didn't think enough of the ballot to pay their poll tax. In Tennessee there is a poll tax provision which applies equally to white and black. In Maryland the law just passed will disfranchise, it is estimated, about 30,000 negroes and about 16,000 white men. Is there any discrimination against the negro there where the law applies to the white man with as much force as it does to him?

How are they going to apply the 14th amendment in such cases without also applying it to Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other Northern States which have taxpaying qualifications? If any negro in any of these States be permenently disfranchised by the suffrage legislation it will be his own fault and surely no State ought to be punished by being deprived of representation because some of the voters do not think enough of the ballot to comply with the laws prescribing the qualifications, in no case difficult to comply with.

By the time the next election comes around there may not be one tenth the disfranchised voters there are now, provided they care to fit themselves and if they do not it will be their own fault and the organs which are now protesting in their behalf will have no ground for protest. When they come to discuss this scheme to reduce Southern representation they will find there are two sides to it and that disfranchisement is not confined to the South.

THE MILK IN THE COCOANUT.

It never clearly appeared why the United States should have put in a claim for the Isle of Pines. The contention that it was not to be considered as a part of Cuba in the treaty with Spain, but as a separate island in which Cuba has no claim now is simply absurd, for it has always been regarded as a part and parcel of Cuba, and is as much a part of that island as Long Island is a part of New York. As the island was apparently unimportant and of little if any value to this country, there was no apparent reason why the United States should claim it, or resort to tricky ways to secure possession of it, but the following, which we clip from the Philadelphia Times, may account for it:

"The milk in another cocoanut is apparently accounted for. One of the most astonishing things in the administration's Cuban policy was the demand that the Isle of Pines should be considered as not a part of Cuba, but as one of the separate dependencies of Spain ceded to the United States. There was nothing in either geography or history to justify this view. Even United States official publications of the past year speak of the Isle of Pines as a district of the province of Habana, and it belongs to Cuba as early as the various smaller islands and keys along the coast. Even were this not so, what object could there be in demanding possession of it?

"An answer to this question is suggested in connection with the visit of Senator Proctor to Cuba, a visit ostensibly for information only. Senator Proctor is the head of the company that owns all the marble quarries in Vermont, and having obtained practical control of the American supply of marble, has lately negotiated the purchase or lease of Carrara. Now it appears that the Isle of Pines contains valuable marble quarries, which formerly were worked extensively but at present are undeveloped. The Isle of Pines is included in Senator Proctor's itinerary.

"Putting this and that together, we begin to see a light. It is not for a naval station or other public purpose that the annexation of the Isle of Pines is desired, but as an additional source of supply for the Marble Trust. Marble brought from a foreign country would be subject to duty; brought from an island possession of the United States, the charges would be subject to 'executive order,' and the Vermont Senator has weight with the executive. And still we wonder that the Cubans are distrustful of American designs."

This looks like a small business for the McKinley administration to become a party to, but it has gotten mixed up in a good many small jobs in connection with our Spanish acquisitions.

Symbols of Success

A vacant chair and a portrait on the wall—strange symbols of success! Yet, in many a home these are the symbols of the success of the man who did not find time to care for his health, or neglected the increasing warnings of disease which Nature gave him. When the stomach is "weak" and food is imperfectly digested and assimilated, it is only a question of time until the break-down comes. The stomach is the very center of vital power and must be kept in health if sickness is to be avoided. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It increases the supply of pure, rich blood, and gives the body strength to withstand the strain put upon it by the struggle for success.

"I was a sufferer from what the doctors called indigestion, but after trying several eminent physicians failed to get a cure," writes Mr. Frank Mericle, of Independence, Jackson Co., Mo., Box 473. "Some of my symptoms were soreness in pit of stomach, fullness, tired feeling, constipation; sometimes soreness would extend to bowels. Some one recommended me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, and after taking only a few bottles of 'Discovery' and your 'Pleasant Pellets' can say I derived more benefit from them than any other medicine I ever tried. I began to gain flesh from the start. Have recommended it to others and will continue to do so."

Sluggish liver made active by Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

PLENTY OF ROOM DOWN THERE.

Now that the peace negotiations between Gen. Kitchener and Gen. Botha have failed interest has revived in the Boer war, in which Great Britain has still a trying task before her and one that will test her endurance and resources, if the Boers can command the war supplies necessary to continue the conflict. It is said that they still have about 14,000 men under arms, men who would rather be killed in battle than submit and take the oath of allegiance to the British King. In such a vast country as that, with which the Afrikanders are familiar, to whose climate they are inured from many of the diseases of which they are immune, an army of that size, under resourceful, able and resolute leadership, is capable of holding out indefinitely against an army ten times its number. The following, which we clip from the Toronto Globe, will give some idea of the territory in which fighting must be done and of the stupendousness of the task which Great Britain has undertaken:

In his dispatches Lord Roberts furnishes a couple of tables which drives home the often described and seldom realized magnitude of the area over which hostilities have spread in South Africa:

	Square Miles.
Cape Colony	277,151
Orange River Colony	48,320
Transvaal	113,649
Natal	18,913
Total	458,030
Rhodesia	750,000

THE DISTANCES TROOPS HAD TO TRAVEL.

By Land.	Miles.
Cape Town to Pretoria	1,040
Pretoria to Komatipoort	260
Cape town to Kimberly	647
Kimberly to Mafeking	223
Mafeking to Pretoria	160
Mafeking to Beira	1,125
Durban to Pretoria	511

"From these tables," the Commander in Chief observes, "it will be seen that the army in South Africa had to be distributed over an area of greater extent than France and Germany put together, and, if we include that part of Rhodesia with which we had to do, larger than the combined areas of France, Germany and Austria."

If Lord Roberts' foresight was as good as his hindsight he probably would have omitted that pompous "unconditional surrender" clause, in the reply he made when asked, on the fall of Pretoria, what terms of peace would be granted.

ANOTHER POEM WANTED.

In reply to a friend who had sent him a book of verses, in which were some verses written about the Cuban war, Mark Twain wrote.

Dear Lampton—Will you allow me to say that I like those poems of you a very much? Especially the one which so vividly pictures the response of our young fellows when they were summoned to strike down an oppressor and set his victim free. Write a companion to it and show us how the young fellows responded when invited by the government to go out to the Philippines on a land stealing and and liberty crucifying crusade.

I notice that they swarm to the recruiting office at the rate of 800 a month, out of an enthusiastic population of 75 000,000 freemen; and that no American-born person can pronounce their names without damage to his jaws, nor spell them without a foreign education.

Sincerely yours,
MARK TWAIN.

Lampton will not try it for, he would find his Pegasus baulking when he mounted him to sing about achievements in the Philippines.

Story of A Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Everybody guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by R. R. BELLAMY, Druggist. †

A PORTRAIT.

GRACE ATHERTON DENNEN.

The mason's hand is rough and scarred,
The mason's back is stooped and bowed;
His brow, close bent above the stone,
With lines of strenuous toil is plowed.
Small ease his honest years have known,
For Labor claims him as her own.

With skillful hand he carves and chips;
His chisel on the hard stone rings.
The gray dust flies about his head,
And ever at his work he sings
A simple croon of boyhood's day,
Timing his chisel to the lay.

And all in reverence I pause
Where he sits careless on the stone;
I hail him one of Labor's kings,
The humble seat his rightful throne;
For yesterday beneath his blow,
Wondering, I saw an angel grow.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— Wisdom is to know what to do next; virtue is to do it.

— People think it a weakness to forgive an insult. Then God will be the weakest in Heaven and on earth, for no one in Heaven or on earth forgives so much as He.

— Discipleship to Christ is not a long labor, or a long pathway, at the end of which we secure a reward in payment for what we have done. It is a life which has its inheritance as its birthright, at the outset, and moves forward in the conscious possession of it.—Timothy Dwight

— Christianity wants nothing so much in the world as sunny people, and the old are hungrier for love than for bread, and the oil of joy is very cheap, and if you can help the poor on with the garment of praise it will be better for them than blankets.—Henry Drummond

— Nothing simplifies life like obedience. We sometimes think we are beset by problems, that life is a very difficult and complicated affair. It is not really so. All life is simply doing for bearing the will of God. There is never more than one duty for one moment.—H. A. Bridgman.

— Keep religion in its place and it will take you straight through life and straight to your Father which is in heaven when life is over. Religion out of its place in a human life is the most miserable thing in the world. There is nothing that requires so much to be kept in its place as religion and its place is what? Second? Third? "First!" the kingdom of God! Make it so that it will be natural to you to think about that the very first thing.—Drummond.

— In our religious gatherings we meet to "wait upon the Lord," to "strengthen the weak hands," as did the people of God in ancient times, who "helped every one his neighbor," and every one said to his brother, "Be of good courage." There is no business that can serve so good a purpose as reconsecration to the service of the Saviour, learning how to seize its "opportunities" and to wild its "influence," so as to be successful in extending the kingdom of God among men.—Baptist Times and Freeman

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Idaho's new law provides for an arbitration board to settle labor disputes: appeal to this is not compulsory in any case, but a judgment rendered can be enforced in the courts. This a fine compromise between individual freedom and law that should please Americans—be that invoketh that law must submit to be shorn by it on occasion.—Jacksonville Citizen, Dem.

— A negro preacher in New York is "satisfied" that during the next month at least 20,000 colored people hoped to leave the south and come North "to accept easy positions at salaries ranging from $30 to $200 per month." This may not settle the race question in the south, but it will at least scatter it around a bit—and that will help some.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

— A folder just issued by the Southern Railway shows that at the end of 1900 there were 495 textile mills along the lines of its system, a gain of 94 mills with 22,185 looms and 1,137,590 spindles during the year. Of these mills 66 are in Georgia, 33 in Alabama, 159 in North Carolina, and 102 in South Carolina, the others being in Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Virginia.—Savannah News, Dem.

EX-PRIME MINISTER OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Commends Peruna to His Friends as a Positive Catarrh Remedy.

Hon. Celso Cæsar Moreno, Ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii.

The Hon. Celso Cæsar Moreno, ex-Prime Minister of Hawaii, and projector of the Trans-Pacific cable, 1876, is a distinguished statesman, and the best known Italian in the country. In a letter from Washington, D. C., to the Peruna Medicine Co., he says:

"I can commend your great national catarrh cure, Peruna, to my friends throughout the country as a safe, reliable medicine. I know of no other tonic that will build a person up as well as Peruna. It is a positive cure for the universal disease, catarrh, and those who will try this remarkable medicine will find a sure cure.

Very respectfully, Celso Cæsar Moreno.

Charles B. Royer, 900 W. Washington treet, Morristown, Pa., writes:

Malinda Royer.

"My oldest daughter Malinda Royer, is cured of deafness by Peruna. When she began to take Peruna we had to go up close to her and talk very loud to make her hear.

"After taking one-half dozen bottles of Peruna she can hear you in any part of the room. She can hear an ordinary conversation."

Thousands of people have catarrh who would be surprised to know it, because it has been called some other name than catarrh. The fact is, catarrh is catarrh wherever located; and another fact which is of equally great importance, that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Catarrh is an American disease. Fully one-half of the people are afflicted more or less with it in some form. Previous to the discovery of Peruna, catarrh was considered well nigh incurable. Since the introduction of Peruna to the medical profession thousands of cases are cured annually.

Mr. W. M. Holland, of Hartwell, Ga., proprietor of the Hartwell Tin Works, writes of Peruna as follows:

"I am more than pleased with the benefits derived from Peruna. The winter of 1899 my weight was 150 pounds. I used several bottles during the winter and now weigh 211.

"I have recommended it to all my friends both as a tonic and catarrh cure. If I had been lucky enough to have seen it several years ago Peruna would have saved me much inconvenience. I can never be too thankful to you for the benefits received from your valuable remedy. My mother has also been wonderfully benefited by your valuable remedy."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Goldsboro Argus: The death of Mrs. J. F. Grantham occurred Thursday in Grantham's township.

— Jonesboro Progress: A great deal of fertilizer is being sold here this spring. On last Saturday 400 sacks of guano was sold by three firms and it was not a good day for selling guano either.

— Sanford Express: The farmers are moving guano from this place and will soon begin to prepare their cotton land. The acreage in cotton in this section will be about the same as it was last year.

— Statesville Landmark: Thirty-nine barrels of illicit spirits were brought in Thursday and stored here. Thirty five barrels came from Advance, Davie county, and four barrels from Salsbury.

— Columbus News: Grif Bright, aged about 80 years, died of LaGrippe last Monday night at his home a few miles west of town, after a short illness. He served in the Confederate army and was wounded in the eye from which he went blind.

— Windsor Ledger: Mr. J. J. Alston, agent at Powellsville for the W and H informs us that there had been received at that place, up to March the 8th, 3840 bags of guano, or 26 car loads, and more is yet to come. This, as you cadily see, means more cotton.

Rocky Mount Advertiser: Since the shortage in our berry crop has been fully realized by both growers and dealers, there has developed a condition relative to the disposition of the crop, that indicates good returns to the truckers if they use discretion and judgment in their marketing.

— Fayetteville Observer: One of the saddest accidents that has ever occurred in Cumberland county took place at Godwin, in the northern part of this county, Thursday. Children were practicing in the afternoon for an entertainment to be held that night, when one of the little boys, who was to make believe to shoot one of the little girls (who happened to be his sister), shot and killed her. The pistol was supposed to be empty. The two children mentioned were Rhodes and Maggie McClelland, twelve and fifteen years old, respectively, children of Mr. C. C. McClelland ex chairman of the Populist Executive Committee. It was during a rehearsal for the commencement of Black's school, near Godwin. The little girl died almost instantly, the ball entering her windpipe.

Destroying Insects In Winter.

Many of our most destructive insects pass the winter either among matted prostrate grass, among fallen leaves or especially along osage hedges, lanes and fence corners. Wherever such places can be burned over in late fall, winter or early spring the effect will be to destroy many of these. Instead of having the annual clearing up in May, as many do who clear up their premises at all, this should be done during the seasons above mentioned, as by May many of the destructive insects have left their winter quarters and are beyond reach.

In the orchard the falling of the leaves will reveal cocoons and even insects themselves upon the trees that cannot be easily detected while the foliage is still hanging to these trees. Many insects pass the winter within a folded leaf that is attached to the twig to prevent it from dropping off and in this way deceive the eye of the orchardist. It will pay to go over the orchard and remove all of the cocoons and dried leaves still clinging to the trees.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The cotton market opened weak at a decline of eight and eleven points with May at 7.99, July at 7 95 and October at 7.28. Later, May sold down to 7.95; July at 7.94 with October stationary until there was a general return to the opening figures, sellers being scarce on reports that the Liverpool market had been sold down to cause a lower opening here. But again prices weakened under renewed liquidation. The English market opened partially 1 64d higher, but closed at a net loss of 1½@3-64d. The decline here met a full response which was hardly expected; the Liverpool market being still proportionately much higher than the markets of this country. However, general feeling showed extreme caution with the visible supply 471,000 bales ahead of what it was last season and the movement pointing to a continued increase unless consumption improved, and of this there is no immediate promise while the amount in sight this week is estimated at $145 000 to 150,000 bales against 106 064 last year, 141,727 in 1899 and 112,125 in 1898. The market for futures closed barely steady and 13 to 18 points lower.

NAN'S METAMORPHOSIS.

A Story of a Spelling Match.

By Adelbert F. Caldwell.

She was such a forlorn looking figure as she shuffled along the frozen river road in the late November sunshine.

"I believe I never saw such an aimless, shiftless family in my life," declared Judge Hilton emphatically as he and his daughter Mildred detected the thinly clad figure before them. "If anything, she's as bad as the rest, though when her mother died I imagined the responsibility of caring for the family would have a beneficial influence on Nan. Instead I actually believe it's had the opposite effect. Just look at that torn dress and ragged shawl! If a girl had any spunk, she'd never be seen on a thoroughfare as public as this is in such a slatternly condition."

"But think, father," and Mildred looked up considerately, "how hard she must be obliged to work even 'to exist' the family, as Uncle Joe used to say. I believe she has a load of evergreen now to sell for winter decorations. It isn't an easy lot by any means the poor girl has." And Mildred tucked the thick robe more snugly about her.

Nan Hascall lived in the old abandoned mill down by the falls. 'Twas all the shelter Job Hascall could get after his wife's death, for rents were not easily obtained when it was known that the family's one source of income was cut off.

Mrs. Hascall had somehow succeeded as by almost a miracle, frail as she was, in providing food and shelter for the growing family of ten.

Job was forever lounging about the postoffice steps in summer, and his winter watch tower was the settee in the west window of the small variety store near the tavern.

"P'rhaps next week I'll be able to get a job somewheres," he would say in the early spring days, as in a shame-faced manner he went by his wife at the washtub, bent on his accustomed loitering ground, and when the first frost came in the fall he would brace himself to declare: "I may get a chance loggin 'fore winter's gone. Wouldn't wash all the time. Better let some few things go."

But to let anything "go" was impossible and keep the roof over their heads and shoes on the many pairs of feet.

The morning after Mrs. Hascall's burial Job said to Nan: "Do the best you can, child. 'Tis all we can do, even the best of us, and p'rhaps somethin will turn up."

However, nothing had, save the rent bill, and as there was nothing with which to meet it they were obliged to move into the tumble down mill.

"I guess we can live here awhile," concluded Job, "if we can get 'nough to eat and somethin to wear. No matter if we don't have the best."

After her mother's death the struggle for existence rested almost wholly on Nan. How she managed to get along was a six months' mystery. After that the people ceased to wonder, and the Hascalls lived only in their own thoughts.

"Who do you imagine will get the scholarship and money for expenses at the seminary?" asked Mildred as they were going up the half mile hill before reaching home.

"I haven't an idea! Yes, I have too. I shouldn't say that." And Judge Hilton looked out of the carriage thoughtfully. "Either Ralph Holman or Ethel Maynard will get it. They're by all odds the best spellers in town."

"I don't know," deliberated Mildred. "When Nan was in school, she had the reputation of being able to spell any word given her. No one ever got above her. To spell well seemed to be her one ambition. She never recited correctly in geography. Were she asked where Russia is it might be the longest river in Maine or the capital of Ireland for anything she could tell, and she never was accused of saying the multiplication table accurately."

"But she will not go," laughed Judge Hilton.

"No; I don't suppose she will, but if she should she'd give them a pretty hard push—and might win. Of course no partiality could be shown in such a contest. I wish she'd go," impulsively.

And at that very moment Nan herself was meditating on the same subject.

"I'd like to go, just to show them I'm not all fool. Don't care nothin for the prize. What would I want of a scholarship?" And Nan smiled grimly at the thought of such a thing. "But I can spell, if I don't know anything else."

A sudden, defiant glance shot from her deep, angry eyes.

"I'll go if I don't want it, just 'cause I—I hate them—the whole kit, George Lewis, Ethel Maynard, Ralph Holman and all 'cept Mildred. She's the only one that's ever treated me decent. Guess they'll be surprised when they see me there." Nan snapped off a twig by the roadside. "And I'll beat them too."

After that, wherever Nan was—gathering evergreen, going after her weekly washing or cooking their scanty meals—a disreputable looking spelling book was her furtively hidden companion, from which, when no one was noticing, she selected for constant review the words of foreign derivation and those which she herself designated as having been thrown together in the dark.

"I can spell all the common ones without looking at them. J-u-d-g-m-e-n-t," she spelled. "Leave out the 'e' before 'ment.' Separate looks easy, but some'll spell it with an 'e' every time."

In early November Dr. Randall, a genial, retired practitioner, a man who had won the distinction of being the philanthropist of the village, had offered tuition and all legitimate expenses for one year at Douglass seminary to any young man or woman who should spell all others down in an old fashioned contest. This was to be held at the high school building about the middle of December. It made no difference whether the contestants attended school or not, the only requirement being that they couldn't be over 21 and must reside in town.

That Ethel Maynard or Ralph Holman or perhaps George Lewis would get it was the foregone conclusion in the minds of nearly all the inhabitants of the village.

"Just you wait. Perhaps you'll be mistaken," was Nan's soliloquy after hearing the matter thus prematurely settled. "I don't care for the old tuition; wouldn't have it anyway, but I'll show you I can do something," and she nodded her head defiantly to an imaginary, unsympathetic audience.

"All ready?" asked Dr. Randall the evening of the contest, glancing at the eager faces about him. "I think so," he added. "Ethel Maynard and Ralph Holman may be captains and choose."

Amid intense excitement long lines of spellers were soon in their places.

"Any one else like to spell who hasn't been drawn?" And Dr. Randall looked over his gold bowed spectacles inquiringly. "I'll just wait a moment."

There was a slight stir back in the corner, and Nan Hascall slowly arose.

"She here—Nan Hascall!" and a titter ran round the room.

Nan's face flushed with indignation. Mildred caught her eye and smiled approval.

"Your turn to choose, Mr. Holman," said Dr. Randall.

"Did Miss Maynard choose last? Very well. Nan Hascall!"

"Spell your best," whispered Mildred, and she pressed Nan's hand as the girl hurried by, her look of anger changed almost to a smile by Mildred's sympathy.

"I'll give you an easy word first." And "daguerreotype" was given out.

"If that's easy, I don't know what he calls a hard one." But Ralph spelled it correctly.

"Idiosyncrasies" followed. Three missed on "parallel," and Nan spelled it.

"One of the easy ones," she whispered.

Word after word was given out until only four spellers remained on the floor, the two captains, George Lewis and Nan Hascall.

Mildred was never more anxious. "I do hope"— She was too interested to finish her sentence.

For ten minutes each spelled accurately every word that came to him.

"Neophyte."

George hesitated, then spelled it with an i.

"N-e-o-p-h-y-t-e," spelled Nan calmly.

There was hardly a breath in the room, so great was the suppressed excitement.

During the next five minutes Ralph took his seat, beaten.

"Well, well!" It was Judge Hilton's ejaculation of surprise.

"Metamorphosis."

Ethel began, hesitated, looked up in consternation, spelled it—wrong.

"Miss Hascall, metamorphosis."

"M-e-t-a-m-o-r-p-h-o-s-i-s," confidently.

As she finished Nan was greeted with a round of applause such as had never before emanated from a Welchville audience. Again and again as it began to die out it was increased with greater intensity.

Mildred slipped on to the floor and gently drew Nan to a seat.

"I knew you'd win," she whispered. "I'm proud"—

"Of me?" interrupted Nan passionately. "Then—then I'll take the prize—and—and be somebody!"

"Your mother was always right smart at spelling." 'Twas Job Hascall's husky congratulation as he clumsily patted Nan's yellow braid.

"I decided 'twould be indeed a metamorphosis when I saw your look of anxiety and knew you cared," confessed Nan the day of her graduation. "If it hadn't been for that—oh, Mildred, I shudder to think!"—Forward.

The "Silent Subsoiler."

It is claimed very generally by clover growers that a field upon which a good crop of clover is grown for two successive years will when replowed and planted to corn yield from 15 to 25 bushels more corn per acre than it did before sown to clover or than similar land by its side will which has not been thus treated. The percentage of increase is quite as large in raising wheat, oats, potatoes and other crops. The plant draws nitrogen from the air and stores it in the soil for the use of succeeding crops. The roots of the clover penetrate to a great depth in the unplowed subsoil, drawing nutriment therefrom, assisting in holding moisture, which when the roots die and decay increase the fertility of the soil as well as the storing capacity for moisture and with its sister, alfalfa, has justly earned the name of the "silent subsoiler," whose success and efficiency are generally admitted and admired. —Bradford Miller, Kansas.

The Buff Leghorns.

The Buff Leghorn, a variant of the already existing chamois Leghorn of Denmark and Italy, was the creation of Mrs. Lister-Kay, a fair farmeress in England. Her old birds are fed twice a day. They have soft food in the mornings and wheat at nights, the young ones getting three meals a day. The originator of the Buff Leghorn has much that is useful to say upon the egg producing qualities of the breed and its unsuitability for table use, and she finds with her Leghorns, as with all other varieties, that it is very difficult to obtain the good meat maker and the good layer in one and the same bird.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken down constitution be restored, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, PASTELLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 24

TO CAPTURE AGUINALDO.

A Daring Project Undertaken by General Funston in Isabella Province, Island of Luzon.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, March 23.—General Funston is now engaged in a daring project which promises to be the greatest and most romantic achievement of his eventful career. In January, from his hiding place in the province of Isabella, Aguinaldo wrote letters anathematizing the sub chiefs who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States. Later, Aguinaldo ordered certain insurgent forces in Southern Luzon to join him in a rendezvous in Isabella province. The rebel officer entrusted with these orders secretly negotiated with the Americans. On securing the necessary information General Funston planned Aguinaldo's capture and, with General MacArthur's authorization proceeded two weeks ago to make the attempt, General Funston, with Surgeon Major Harris, Captain Newton, of the Thirty fourth infantry; Lieutenant Admir, of the Twenty-second Infantry; Lieutenan Mitchell, of the Fortieth infantry, six veteran scouts, and a company of native scouts, all picked men, embarked on the gunboat Vicksburg and landed on a remote beach above Baler. It was arranged that Aguinaldo's emissary, with the native scouts, should pass themselves off as insurgent troops who, having captured General Funston and others were taking them as prisoners to Aguinaldo. At the right time, when brought before Aguinaldo, General Funston was to give a signal, when the tables were to be turned and Aguinaldo was to be seized.

Six days march in the interior were contemplated. Treachery was considered possible but every precaution was taken. The troops in New Vizcaya and New Ecija, and the gunboats Vicksburg and Albany were to cooperate with General Funston's force. The Vicksburg is expected here tomorrow.

Colonel Rosarick with fifty-one men and fifty-six rifles, has surrendered to Colonel Baldwin, of the Fourth infantry, at San Francisco de Malabon, Cavite province.

Lieutenant Dean, of troop C, Sixth cavalry, has engaged a force of insurgents at Tubig, Lagunda province, killing several of them and capturing seven men and twenty four rifles.

RUSSIA-CHINA AGREEMENT.

Only Three Days for China to Reject or Confirm the Treaty With Regard to Manchuria.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The question of Chinese indemnities has given way for the moment to the more pressing issue over the consummation of the Russia China agreement relating to Manchuria. The latter subject has reached a decisive stage, as only three days remain within which China can confirm or reject the agreement. Up to the present time neither the State Department nor the Chinese minister has received any report that China has rejected the treaty. Naturally there is much anxiety in official and diplomatic quarters as to the outcome, for the active part taken by the various Powers and the threatening attitude of Japan give unusual importance to the conclusions to be reached within the next few days. The Chinese minister to day had a conference with Secretary Hay, the Manchurian question being the chief subject of discussion. The minister brought no definite information, however, as to what has been done on the agreement.

So far as the United States is concerned it seems likely that the last word has been spoken, and there is not expected to be any decisive move or protest beyond what already has been given. At the same time it is appreciated that the the United States has large commercial interests in Manchuria, which cannot but be affected if China's authority there is practically transferred to Russia.

STORM AT PENSACOLA, FLA.

Considerable Damage to Shipping in the Harbor—Steamers Badly Tangled. One Man Drowned.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PENSACOLA, FLA., March 23.—A severe blow from the southeast to day did considerable damage to shipping in this harbor. One sailor is thought to have been drowned.

At the wharves of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company the storm caused its greatest damage to shipping. All the large export steamers tied up there were so badly tangled that it is impossible to learn how much they are damaged.

The Russian bark Lillo and the Russian ship Loche collided and both were damaged. The schooner Siene was beached. The Italian bark Adele was damaged by the parting of her chains.

Lloyd Ward, a sailor, disappeared during the storm and is thought to have been blown overboard.

Near St Andrew's Pass the fishing smack Maud Muller was wrecked. It is not known if the crew was rescued.

ON THE PLANT SYSTEM.

Passenger Trains in Collision—One Man Killed and Four Injured.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 23.—In a collision which occurred on the Plant system this morning between two passenger trains, one man was killed and four injured. Doc Huggley, fireman, was killed. The injured are: Flagman Woodham, hand mashed; Engineer Jewell, head bruised; Conductor Seidell, face bruised, and Postal Clerk Huggins, hand mashed. The wreck occurred about two miles below Montgomery, and it was due, it is claimed, to a misunderstanding of orders.

DEFIANT ATTITUDE OF THE RUSSIANS.

A New and Unfortunate Hitch in the Siding Dispute at Tien Tsin.

RUSSO-CHINESE AGREEMENT.

Denied That Russia Intends to Assume a Protectorate Over Manchuria—Chinese Believe Japan Will Resist Further Encroachments.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, March 24.—The Sunday Special's Tien Tsin correspondent says:

"A new and unfortunate hitch has occurred in the Anglo Russian siding dispute. After both parties had withdrawn, according to agreement, the Russians suddenly returned to the disputed spot and planted flags over all the territory. They afterward again retired, leaving the flags flying."

Japan's Energetic Protest.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The State Department has been made aware of the fact that the Japanese government has made a rather energetic protest against the conclusion of the Russo-Chinese agreement relating to Manchuria. This, however, has not been conveyed to the department by means of any formal note of communication, but has been verbal in character and has been in line with the well understood attiiude of opposition which Japan has manifested for some time.

Lacks Confirmation.

SHANGHAI, March 23.—There was no confirmation of the reported concentration of Russian warships in Corean waters or of the rumored mobilization of the Japanese fleet. While foreign circles here generally doubt that an outbreak of hostilities will occur, the Chinese are satisfied that Japan is determined to resist Russian designs on Manchuria.

Russian Chinese Agreement.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 23.—It is understood and generally believed in diplomatic circles that the Russian-Chinese agreement, now about being signed differs, considerably from the original draft, though the precise differences are not obtainable.

Russian statesmen reiterate emphatically that Russia does not intend to assume a protectorate over Manchuria.

BOERS ATTACK THE BRITISH.

Wrecked and Captured a Supply Train Fought a Convoy, Killing One Man and Wounding Three.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

STANDERTON, TRANSVAAL COLONY, March 22.—Four hundred Boers under the Boer commander Buys have wrecked a supply train north of Vlakfontein. They overpowered the escort and carried off several wagon loads of provisions.

A convoy destined to join General French's column has been attacked between Blood river and Scheepers Nek, Transvaal Colony. The British had one man killed and three wounded. The bridge at Blood river was burned.

LONDON, March 23.—The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the House of Comons to day, replying to a question, said no specific objections had been made by General Botha to any of the peace terms offered by General Kitchener, and General Botha made no counter proposals. The only information in possession of the government outside of that published in the papers was contained in a private telegram from General Kitchener, saying General Botha had a strong objection to Sir Alfred Milner.

BRITISH COTTON MILLS.

Signs of More Trouble Between the Masters and the Operatives.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LONDON, March 23.—The Speaker to day says there are unmistakable signs of more trouble between the masters and the operatives in the cotton trade. A period of trade activity has been followed by a reaction, accelerated by the high prices of raw cotton and other materials, a poor demand from India and an almost complete stoppage of buying from China. The Lancashire spinners and weavers have held out longer than their rivals in the United States or continent, but the rapid closing down of the mills shows their turn is coming, and as the American crop is likely to be insufficient even for the reduced consumption, there is not much prospect of low level quotations for raw cotton to invigorate the demand for yarn and cloth. If some agreement whereby wages may be adjusted according to the state of trade is not soon concluded, declining profits will force the masters to reduce wages.

SEABOARD AIR LINE

Another Rumor Concerning Its Absorption by the L. & N. Railroad.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 23.—The Courier-Journal to morrow will say:

"Another rumor is current concerning the absorption of the Seaboard Air Line by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. For the first time since these stories have been afloat there seems to have been some ground for the rumor. A few days ago there was a conference between Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville; Y. Vandenburg, first vice president of the Louisville and Nashville, and V. E. McBee, superintendent of the Seaboard Air Line. The conference was held at the office of Mr. Smith and while no information concerning it has been given out, those who know of the conference are inclined to the belief that Mr. McBee was called here to make certain statements regarding the business of the road.

IN ITS ADVANCED and chronic form a cold in the head is known as Nasal Catiarrh and is the recognized source of other diseases. Having stood the test of continued successful use, Ely's Cream Balm is recognized as a specific for membranal diseases in the nasal passages, and you should resort to this treatment in your own case. TEMPERANCE AGITATION IN KANSAS TOWNS.

Heavy Registration of Women for the Coming Spring Elections—Mrs. Carrie Nation.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, KAS., March 23.—The heaviest registration of women on record in Kansas has been recorded in many places throughout the State for the Spring elections to occur soon in the towns of the second and third class. At most places the issue is "wet" or "dry." At Atchison, however, where fully a third more women registered than ever before, there is a contest between the whites and negroes over voting for a school building for negroes.

TOPEKA, KAS., March 23.—The temperance agitation started in this city by Mrs. Nation has resulted in bringing out the heaviest registration for the Spring election in the history of the city. The registration is 15,000 of which 6,000 are women. The registration last Fall for the presidential election was 10,174 men, which shows that women are taking the greatest interest in the election this Spring. The Law and Order League has put up candidates for mayor and other city officers, who are pledged to enforce the prohibition law, and they have made a house to house canvass to see that every voter favorable to their ticket is registered. The opposition has also been very active and the coming election promises to be the most exciting ever held in the city. The election will take place April 2nd.

Mrs. Carrie Nation.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has dissolved partnership with Nick Chiles, her colored publisher. She will hereinafter endeavor to edit and have printed her paper, the Smasher's Mail, without his assistance. The trouble grew out of the suppression by Chiles of an editorial written by Mrs. Nation, scoring District Judge Hazen, before whom she has appeared a number of times.

ATCHISON, KAS., March 23.—Mrs. Nation met with a very cool reception here this evening. She attempted to address a large crowd in the bar-room of the Bryan hotel, when she was hooted repeatedly by the mob. The bar tender mounted the bar three times in an effort to secure order and procure for Mrs. Nation a respectful hearing.

Mrs. Nation's famous nerve was on the point of deserting her, as there seemed to be no one who was in sympathy with her. After trying to talk for some time she gave it up, and in the custody of two policemen she went out on the street. Here she attempted to enter another joint but was stopped by the chief of police with the remark that she had better go to her headquarters before any further trouble should ensue. She took his advice and was taken in a buggy by the police and removed from the mob.

MARSEILLES STRIKE TROUBLE

A More Favorable Turn in the Situation Negotiations for Settlement by Arbitration.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MARSEILLES, March 23.—The strike situation here took a more favorable turn this afternoon.

At a meeting in the town hall, convoked by the mayor of Marseilles and held last night to considered the situation, and which was attended by the deputies, general councillors and municipal councillors, a dispatch was received from M. Waldeck Rousseau, the French prime minister, announcing that the masters had agreed to arbitration respecting such points of the dispute as were open to negotiation.

Two representatives of the strikers were present at the meeting and accepted the proposed arbitration, provided it was approved by the general assembly of the strikers.

The councillors then called on the prefect and begged him to withdraw or conceal the troops in the city. In view of the negotiations the prefect consented to conceal the troops, the councillors promising to influence the strikers to cease further disorders.

A Fatal Fire.

A rope factory was burned to-day. The walls collapsed and two firemen were killed. Eleven persons, including six firemen, were seriously injured, and one fireman is missing.

STEAMSHIP KOREA.

The Largest Vessel Ever Built on This Side of the Atlantic.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 23. — The Korea, which was launched to day at the Newport News Shipbuilding Company's works bears the distinction of being up to date the largest steam vessel ever built on this side of the Atlantic. With a length of 572 feet four inches, and a beam of 63 feet, she will displace 18,600 tons on a draft of twenty-seven feet. Some idea of the size of the Korea may be derived from the fact that from the top to the bottom of the bare hull is a distance of forty feet, while the distance around her rail is nearly a quarter of a mile. She is to be fitted with engines of 18,000 horse power, sufficient to propel her at a speed of 20 knots. The Korea will accommodate 1 400 passengers, of whom 200 will be first class cabin passengers. She is designed for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, to ply between San Francisco and Hong Kong.

Just as the Korea slipped down the ways, George Bannister, a colored man, among the employes gathered about the vessel, was struck by one of the falling props and received injuries from which he died to-night.

LYNCHING IN ARKANSAS.

White Man Taken from Jail and Hanged by a Mob of Masked Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., March 23.—A Gazette special from Pocahontas says that George C. Heveyes, who day before yesterday shot and killed Town Marshal John Norris, of Pocahontas, while Norris was performing official duty, was taken from jail by a mob of 200 men last night and hanged. The coroner's jury held Heveyes for murder, but owing to the feeling against him, the trial had been postponed until next week. The members of the mob were masked.

GREAT HARDSHIP AND SUFFERING

Endured by the United States Soldiers and Engineers in the Klondike.

IN DANGER OF STARVATION.

Attempted to Construct a Telegraph Line Between Dawson City and Fort St. Michael—Relay Expedition by Reindeers to the Rescue.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, March 23.—The first details of the great hardship and suffering endured by the two corps of soldiers and engineers who attempted to construct a telegraph line between Dawson City and Fort St. Michael, have reached Dr. Eugene S. Willard, of Evanston, in a letter from his son, P. E. Williard, who was with one of the parties. As already told a miscalculation was made, and the two corps working from opposite ends of the line, missed each other by seventy miles. The letter states that it was necessary to send a relay expedition drawn by reindeer to rescue the soldiers from death.

The letter from Mr. Willard, dated at Eaton, Reindeer Station, December 31, 1900 says:

"Lieutenant Offley left Unalalik as winter was setting in to build a line to Kaltag. At the same time Lieutenants Smith and Grilm set out from Kaltag to build across the portage, and the detachments were to meet half-way between Kaltag and the coast.

"In the middle of the Winter word was brought by travellers that Lieutenants Smith and Grilm, after building eighteen miles of telegraph line, were in distress. They had several men with them and as there were no supplies at Kaltag and they had no communication with any other place, they were in danger of starvation. Their mule team had gone through the ice of a river and the load of provisions was lost.

"All the men turned out to shovel the snow in an effort to move forward. This proved useless, for the mules at every step left a track of blood. Their hoofs were torn and their legs cut at every step. As soon as he heard of their condition Lieutenant Offley took a dog team and started to find them. He found them in a frightful condition. They had leather shoes, which are of no use in this country, and their feet, hands, ears and faces were frozen. They were living on half rations. The mules were suffering so much that two of them had to be shot.

"A request was sent to Dr. Francis H. Gamble, superintendent of the government reindeer in Alaska, that some of the deer from Eaton station be sent to rescue the party. Thirty reindeer, hauling sleds, were sent to the rescue. They proved to be superior to dogs, as it costs nothing to feed them. By December 20th the soldiers had reached Unalalik."

CUBA'S CONVENTION.

It Is Said Now That the Platt Amendment Will Be Accepted.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, March 23.—Reports from all parts of the island indicate a change from the radical stand taken against the Platt amendment and the tone of the country press is more liberal.

El Diario De La Marina to-day says that judging from all appearances the constitutional convention will accept the amendment. The Discussion also, instead of continuing its editorials against it, now publishes interviews showing the advisability of accepting the amendment.

THE IMPEACHMENT COURT.

Vote Will Probably Be Reached Wednesday Night—Fayetteville and Wilmington Steamboat Co.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., March 23.—It is the opinion of those most closely connected with the impeachment trial, that a vote will be reached Wednesday night or Thursday morning. Argument began last Thursday, and a vote will be taken immediately after the close of the argument for the prosecution.

This morning J. Lindsay Patterson made an able speech for the defence, and during the afternoon Col. T F. Davidson spoke for the prosecution. Hon. Fab. H. Busbee was in the midst of a strong speech for the defence when the court took recess until Monday.

There were no new arguments advanced by the speakers to day, though all made able argument. The long drawn out discussion is causing interest somewhat to lag so far as attendance is concerned. There were very few visitors to day, and at one time only twenty of the Senators were in their seats. There will be three more speeches for the defence by Hon. B. F. Long, ex Gov. Jarvis and Hon. F. I. Osborne, and as many more for the prosecution. The closing speech for the prosecution will be by Hon. C. B Watson.

The Secretary of State to-day chartered the Fayetteville and Wilmington Steamboat Company, with $250,000 capital. The object is to own and operate a steamboat line from Fayetteville to the mouth of the Cape Fear river and coastwise as far as New York. The company is also allowed to construct and operate a street car system, electric lights, etc.

The Fayetteville cotton and woollen mills, etc., incorporators are E. W. Cook, New York; W. L. Holt and W. M. Morgan, Fayetteville; R. P. Gray, Guilford county. Each one of the incorporators takes $35,000 stock.

THE STATE BANKS.
